A SEASON TO REMEMBER AT ALPINE LAKE

As the 2025 golf season comes to a close, we want to thank all our members, guests, and visitors for making this year one of the most memorable yet.

From the first tee-off in April to the final putt this October, Alpine Lake Golf Course was buzzing with energy, camaraderie, and great golf. This year brought continued course improvements, the fullest event calendar we have ever seen, and a large membership base that is growing and continues to strengthen our golf community. The hard work and dedication from our maintenance team, led by our superintendent and crew, kept the course in excellent shape throughout the season—despite the challenges that come with mountain weather in West Virginia.

Course Improvements & Maintenance Highlights

This season was another step forward in our ongoing commitment to improving playing conditions and sustainability. Our maintenance team worked tirelessly to ensure Alpine Lake remained one of the most scenic and well-kept mountain courses in the region.

Key Highlights:

- Deep-Tining the Greens:
 - In early October, we completed deep-tine aeration on all greens—a critical step in maintaining healthy turf. With our older push-up greens, this process helps relieve compaction, improve drainage during heavy rains, and promote deeper root growth to combat summer heat stress. The result: firmer, healthier greens that perform more consistently throughout the year.
- Hand-Watering & Smart Irrigation Practices:
 - Without a weather-based irrigation system, our team continues to manage water carefully, hand-watering greens and tees as needed. This approach helps conserve water while ensuring optimal turf health.
- Course Tree Maintenance and Removal:
 - Several tree maintenance and removal projects were completed this season to improve turf health, course playability, and sunlight penetration. Strategic removals have opened airflow around key greens and tees, allowing turf to recover more efficiently and reducing moisture-related stress. The trimming of overhanging branches has also enhanced the line of sight to several holes, improving both aesthetics and playability while preserving the mountain character of the course.
- Equipment Maintenance & Efficiency:
 - Our mechanic kept the John Deere fleet running smoothly with a detailed preventative maintenance schedule. The team maintained excellent reliability and performance all season long.
